In addition to CPD workshops. Kathy's doctoral research explored fitness to practice, an aspect that Kathy is passionate about along with standards being upheld within the profession. KRCS's latest project has been to set up and offer a Low Cost Counselling Service so that students may experience professional practice in a supported placement.

About Kathy Raffles ctd

For 6 years, Kathy served as a governor on the BACP Board. In addition, she has served on two of the BACP Accreditation Schemes (Counsellor and Trainer) as an Assessor as well as a panel member on both the BACP's and NCS's professional conduct procedure. She has also served as a member of the BACP Supervisor Forum and Coaching Forum. Kathy was awarded Fellow 'status' with both BACP and the NCS and recently honoured by the NCS in being presented with the Elizabeth McElligott award for making "a significant and lasting contribution to the Society and to the profession in general".

Event Details

During last year's International Supervision week, I offered a session on Fitness to Practice (1) in which we explored the importance of putting a Plan B in place in the event of the ill health of the Counsellor necessitating a temporary or permanent closure of their private practice.

Today, I wish to expand the supervisory triad (Client, Counsellor, Supervisor) dynamic and offer Fitness to Practice (2) from the Supervisor's perspective of working alongside a Supervisee (in private practice) faced with a supervisory emergency. The example that I offer is a real account of our supervisory work, anonymised and used in CPD workshops with the supervisee's permission as a training aid, hopefully to promote thinking and to enhance professional standards.
