Event Details

It's been suggested that in the 21st Century, we are facing a cultural turning point that requires an evolutionary shift to find the solutions to the numerous escalating challenges facing us today. These solutions need to value all people, all life, and all of our earth. This conversation with Gill will explore the role of 'synergies'; what they are; how they emerge within individuals/groups/cultures; and the part that Roger's formative tendency and his six conditions play's in facilitating them.
