Supervisors: A New Duty of Care?

'But I Only Use a Bit of Skype for Supervision'

CSTD - The Centre for Supervision and Team Development

www.cstdlondon.co.uk

The Centre for Supervision and Team Development has been running supervision training since 1979 and is the longest running supervision training in the UK. Our aim is to train and support supervisors to provide supervision in the work place, on an individual, group, team, organisational and societal basis so that work is a place of purpose, achievement, self-worth, service, relationship, and creativity.

The core of the training is based on the Seven Eyed Model which is more fully described in Supervision in the Helping Professions (Hawkins and Shohet 2012, 4th edition), written by the Centre staff which has sold 100,000 copies and been translated into eight languages.

Supervision in Family Nurse Partnership – Lindsay Andrews

Lindsay Andrews Clinical Advisor & Educator (FNP National Unit)

LindsayMy career has mainly focused on improving the life chances of vulnerable young people and children. I started nursing in the 1980's at the 'Queen's' in Nottingham. Throughout the 1990's I worked as a Midwife; mostly in the community setting in inner city Leeds. I then undertook BSc Health Visiting at Leeds (LMU) and worked as a Health Visitor in Kirklees for 2 years.

In 2002, I took the specialist post –'Lead Nurse for Looked after Children and Care Leavers', where I led on development of health improvement policy and training for the Health and Social Care workforce in Kirklees, developed Relationship and Sexual Health Education Policy and training programme, and acted as Vice Chair to the Kirklees fostering panel. I gained a sound working knowledge of the legal framework relating to Looked after Children. I studied Child Public Health and Safeguarding at Masters Level.

In 2009, I became Family Nurse Partnership (FNP) supervisor for Kirklees and was able to fuse my skills, knowledge and passion to successfully develop FNP programme delivery at a local level. I loved the multi-faceted role of supervision and being part of a motivated team. I have contributed to the development of the FNP supervisory process and documentation strategy at a national level. I have championed the role of expert clients in FNP and have spoken at FNP national study days on this agenda.

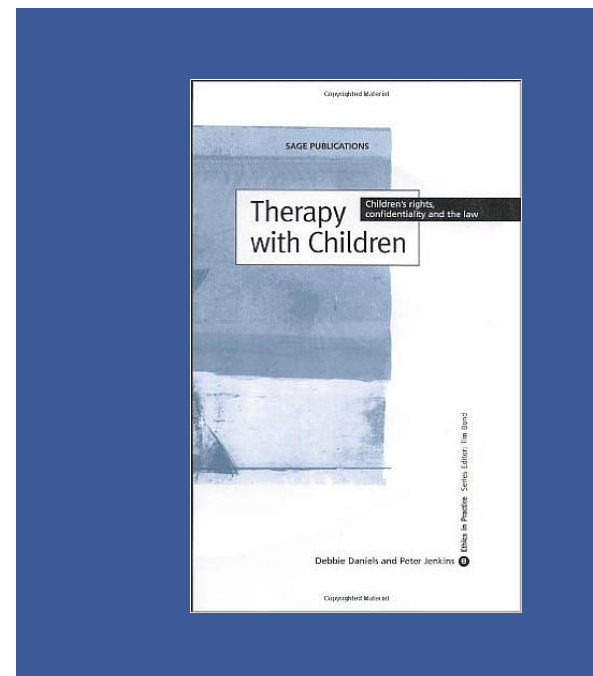

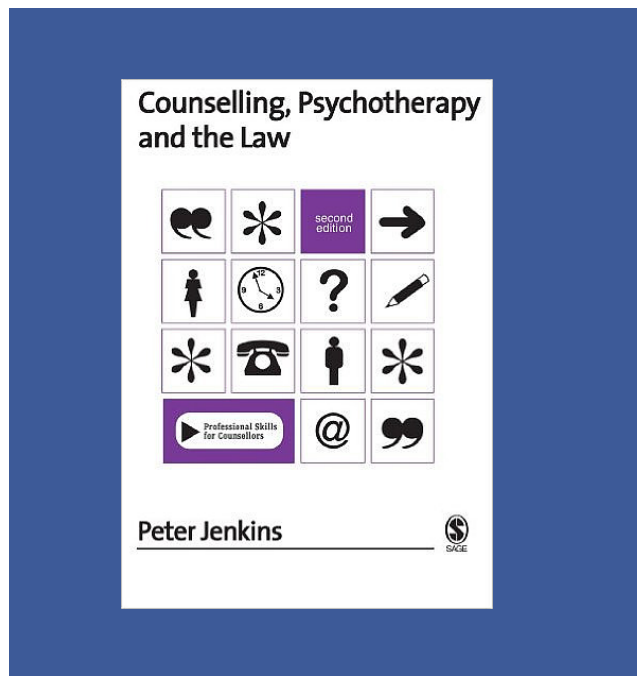

My current post in clinical educator/clinical advisor with the FNP national unit contributing to learning programmes for new family nurses and FNP supervisors. My lead area is the FNP supervisor learning programme.
