CSTD - The Centre for Supervision and Team Development

The Centre for Supervision and Team Development has been running supervision training since 1979 and is the longest running supervision training in the UK. Our aim is to train and support supervisors to provide supervision in the work place, on an individual, group, team, organisational and societal basis so that work is a place of purpose, achievement, self-worth, service, relationship, and creativity.

The core of the training is based on the Seven Eyed Model which is more fully described in Supervision in the Helping Professions (Hawkins and Shohet 2012, 4th edition), written by the Centre staff which has sold 100,000 copies and been translated into eight languages.

The Exploration of Imagery and Response Art in Clinical Supervision – Diane Rode, Morgan Stojanowski, & Sarah Yazdian

The Child Life and Creative Arts Therapy Department

A stay in the hospital can be unsettling no matter how old you are. For children, medical procedures, unfamiliar surroundings and new faces can be particularly stressful. The Child Life and Creative Arts Therapy Department helps young patients cope with their fears and anxieties by offering therapeutic activities tailored to meet their social, emotional, and educational needs. Familiar experiences such as play, art, school, and socializing with peers are offered to help young patients understand and cope more effectively with the often overwhelming world of the hospital.

Is Supervision for Everyone? – Karl Gregory

RGN, RMN, MSc Counselling, Diploma in Psychotherapy Supervision, NCS (accredited) MBACP

I have an MSc in Counselling from the University of Bristol. I am an experienced supervisor, counsellor and trainer with a 20 year background in mental health and 18 years as a counsellor. I personally have found great value in supervision. For many years I have had an interest in supervision as a supportive, reflective, challenging, and consultative space in which a supervisee can further develop personally and professionally to offer the best of themselves in their work with others. I believe that this style of supervision can benefit all types of therapeutic, coaching/mentoring, health, and spiritual approaches towards well-being.

I began supervising and qualified in teaching and assessing in clinical practice as a psychiatric nurse in 1989, where I pioneered supervision for nurses in my area when I managed services. So naturally I continued supervision practice later when trained as a counsellor in 1997

Supervision on the Edge – Jacqueline Simon Gunn and Brent Potter

Dr. Jacqueline Simon Gunn, Psy.D. is a Clinical Psychologist in private practice in Manhattan, a freelance writer and author.

She is the former Psychology Internship Training Director and Clinical Supervisor of The Karen Horney Clinic. Gunn is bold and irreverent in her storytelling – she likes to ‘tell it like it is.’ Using wit and guts in straight-forward narrative style, Gunn’s writing shows her readers that fact-is-stranger-than-fiction. And she hopes by baring truths her readers may find some inspiration along the way.

Dr. Brent Potter is a psychotherapist with 20 years of direct clinical service. He is the Director for the Society for Laingian Studies and the R.D. Laing Institute. Brent is the author of numerous articles whose topics include: innovative and effective mental healthcare models, analytical psychology, humanistic psychology, existential-phenomenology, psychoanalysis, the psychotic register of the mind, character and personality disorders, chemical dependency and child / adolescent mental health concerns. His first book, 'Elements of Self-Destruction' is out via Karnac Books: (<http://www.karnacbooks.com/Product.asp?PID=32499>).

Brent welcomes all correspondence and can be contacted via Facebook (<https://www.facebook.com/drbrentpotter>), by email (brentpotterma@yahoo.com) or by phone (818.337.9701).

Inter(national)vision – Keith Tudor

Keith Tudor is a Certified Transactional Analyst and a Teaching and Supervising Transactional Analyst, accredited by the International Transactional Analysis Association. He is an Associate Professor at AUT, where he is also currently the Head of the Department of Psychotherapy & Counselling; and has a small private practice, mostly supervision, in West Auckland. He is the author of 10 papers on supervision, one of which has been translated into Portuguese and Italian, and the co-editor of two books on person-centred approaches to supervision. He has designed certificate and diploma courses on supervision and is currently engaged in designing a supervision programme in Singapore.
