Neuroscience and Transactional Analysis

David Gibson

About David Gibson

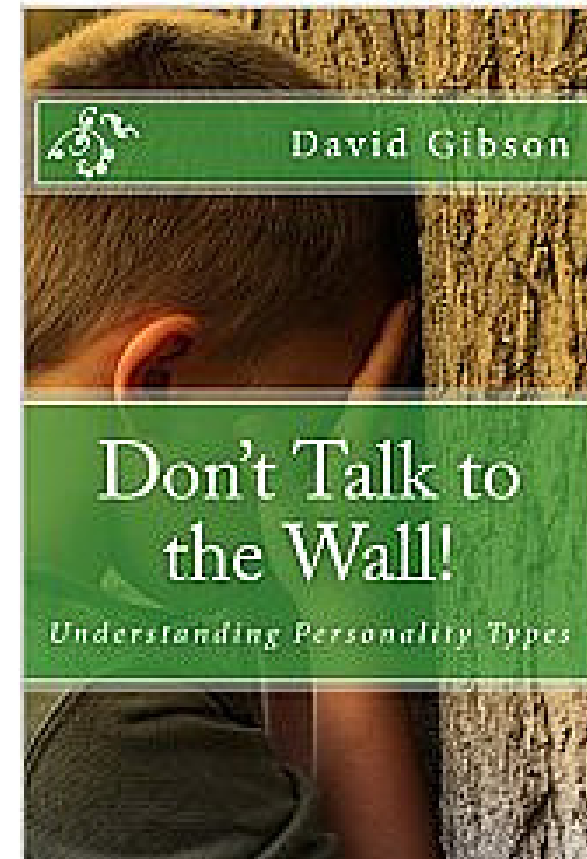

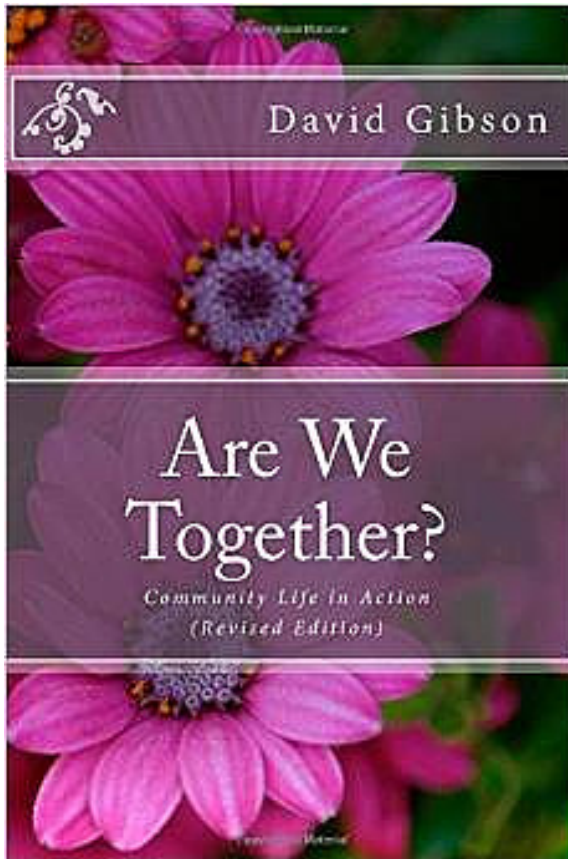

David Gibson is a Provisional Teaching and Supervising Transactional Analysis with a Masters degree in Psychotherapy from Middlesex University.

He is the author of two books on TA: Are We Together? which explains TA theory in the context of how groups work. His second book: Don't Talk to the Wall! explains six personality types and shows how people can live a more balanced life by a new awareness of how their personality is shaped by early life experiences.

David teaches TA in Europe, Africa, America and India.
