About Sandra Wilson

I am the co-founder of Onlineevents with my brother John. With years of experience in using social media to promote both Onlineevents and managing accounts for others, I teach and support practitioners as they start and continue their social media journey to promote their practice. I share tools to use and free platforms to create images, videos, etc.

Online courses and training are great, but having that one to one contact to ask "is this right, how does this look, how do I" makes all the difference for practitioners. This is why I have developed my online one to one Coaching Get Social With Saz.
