About Ani de la Prida

I am a person-centred therapist with around 19 years experience of counselling, art therapy and play therapy, with clients of all ages. I have worked in schools, exclusion centres, drug treatment programmes and currently work in private practice. I am also a writer, lecturer and supervisor and have trained counsellors for over ten years.

My revised chapter for the Second Edition (2018) Referrals and Indications for Therapy in Pattison et al (2018) Handbook for Counselling Children and Young People has just been published by Sage.
